GOOD LUCK GARDENS, PARADISE, PA.

To Our Customers

Dear Friends:

Paradise, Pa.

We've been hearing a lot of talk lately about how the war is practically over and how all of us can just relax and get ready for the peace to come. We are told that the enemy is hanging on the ropes, that our overwhelming superiority in men and weapons has taken all desire to fight from him. We are even assured that food is so plentiful that we can give up our amateur gardening and let our farmers feed us as well as our Allies and friends in the liberated countries and that they can do this easily and efficiently. Don't you believe it! It's just exactly what the Japs and Germans want us to think—they are playing for time while they get their second wind. Right now, more than ever, we need to redouble our efforts to supply material for that knockout blow. And material means food as well as weapons, tanks, and ships. Food to keep our fighting men vigorous and healthy, food to restore the strength and courage to the starving peoples of Europe, food to keep us here at home going at top-speed. The millions of pounds of garden fresh vegetables the amateur gardeners produced in their home plots these past two years have played a very important part in the march toward victory. There's another angle to consider, a more personal one. Whether you live in a city, small town, or a rural community one thing is certain—if you buy fresh vegetables you are paying a much higher price than you did 3 years ago and it's quite probable prices will go even higher. Many factors combine to cause these increased prices such as scarcity of labor, lack of transportation and the inflation which inevitably goes with war. Whatever the cause, you're going to feel the effects unless you raise as much of your own food as possible. And now, before I sign off, let me tell you something I discovered for myself. Working in a garden is a wonderful sedative for those "war nerves." The physical exercise, the fresh air, the pride in doing a useful job well, all help to relax taut nerves and to strengthen your trust that that youngster in uniform, your personal stake in this war, will be returned to you safe and sound. Till that happy day do all you can to shorten the war by growing your own vegetables, buying only what you need, and putting all extra money into War Bonds.

Cordially yours,

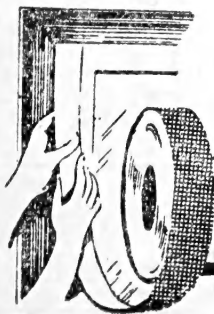

E. Andrews

TAMPALA

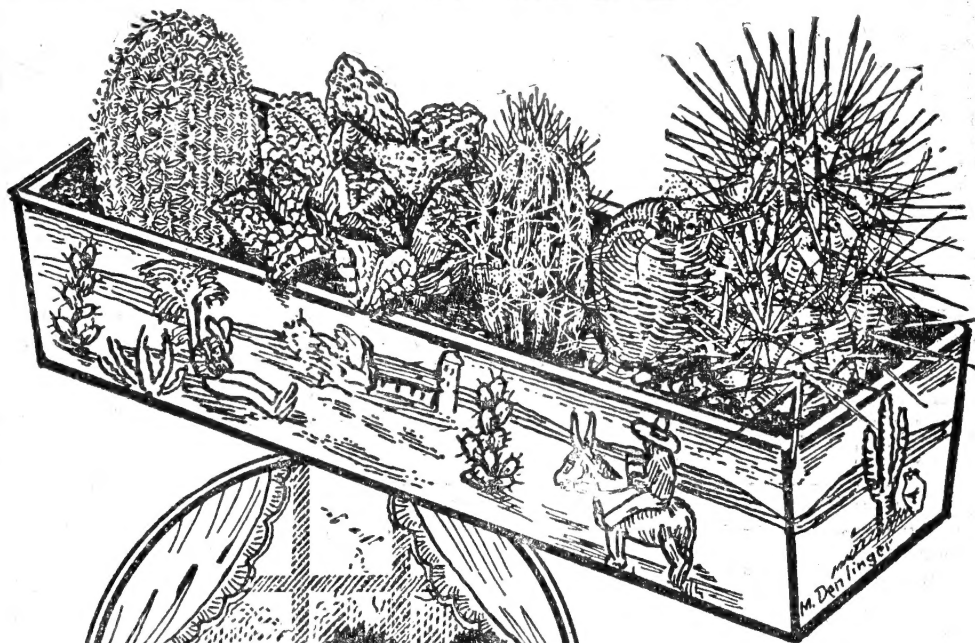

Tampala is different from any vegetable you've ever eaten. It is far superior to spinach in every way, possessing a delicate flavor all its own. The leaves are carried high on the 2 ft. plants and remain free from the grit and sand which is so distasteful in spinach. Most people who have tried it prefer it to all other greens and we believe it is destined to become one of the most popular of vegetables. Recipes sent upon request. No. 685 Pkt. 15c; 1/8 oz. 60c; 1/4 oz. $1.00; 1 oz. $3.50.
